

Where was your Company when the revolution began?

That's a question you don't want to hear in five years' time. When Expo is over. Because, in many ways, Expo will be a revolution. In the way we think about nutrition, sustainability, cooperation. In new technologies, new materials, new ideas for the future of our planet. Think of what it would mean for a company, a brand or a business to be part of such an ambitious project. It's a challenge that's not for everyone. Only the best in their fields. Which your company probably is, if you have read this far. Let's talk about it.
